

VELA SYSTEMS

NRI and Vela Systems have announced a new partnership that will blend NRI's expertise as one of the most experienced and trusted data management technology solution providers with Vela Systems' field software that streamlines and accelerates field processes in construction and capital project management. No more will an architectural, engineering firm or contractor have to concern themselves with connecting all of their digital tools and assets together to provide an efficient way to manage their design and construction processes. NRI and Vela Systems can handle that for them.
